Camden Kids Talk

Dear Parents and Carers

This year our Nursery team have been involved in an exciting project called Camden Kids Talk. The aim of the project is to boost communication and language skills in Nursery aged children across Camden. We feel the tips and ideas will benefit the whole school community as well.

Each week we will be sharing a 'top 10 tip' in the newsletter and on posters around school. You may have seen them advertised at your local library or children's centre also.

One of the tips is to put phones and tablets away and try to spend more time connecting and playing with your child. We'd like to help foster this in school as well and are going to ask that phones are kept in pockets or bags during drop off and pick up. We ask that you try and utilise this time chatting with your child and connecting with them about their day.

Research tells us that responsive and consistent adult interactions, that change as the child's communication develops, has a massive impact on both their academic success and well-being.

If you would like to know more, please feel free to ask Nic and Rebecca in Nursery or Beth in Reception and please keep an eye out for the top tips in the newsletter.

Thank you,

Beth Cleine

TIP 6

Screens away, it's time to play! Put down phones and ipads.

When you talk to me it helps me learn about the world around me.
