

Thursday.

Today, writing our version of the story opening - scenes 1 and 2.

Look back at your mind map from Tuesday and the sentences you wrote yesterday to help you with vocabulary and structure.

accidentally	equally	joyously angrily	eventually	justly anxiously	exactly	kindly awkwardly	faithfully	lazily badly	fast	loosely
beautifully	fatally	loudly blindly	fiercely	madly
boldly	fondly	mortally
bravely	foolishly	mysteriously brightly	fortunately	neatly busily	frankly	nervously calmly	frantically	noisily carefully	generously	obediently carelessly	gently	openly cautiously	gladly	painfully cheerfully	gracefully	patiently clearly	greedily	perfectly closely	happily	politely correctly	hard	poorly courageously	hastily	powerfully cruelly	healthily	promptly daringly	honestly	punctually deliberately	hungrily	quickly doubtfully	hurriedly	quietly eagerly	inadequately	rapidly

Here is a list of adverbs, you can include these to add more detail.

The monkeys dashed through the emerald green tea bushes.

The exhausted women leapt out the way.

Scene/paragraph 1: Women begin work, calm and quiet. Monkeys awake in the misty mountains at sunrise.

- Describe the settings
- Details about the monkeys and the women

- Interesting adjectives
- Descriptive verbs
- Adverbs and adverbials

High up in the mountains, the sun slowly dissolved the inky mist and a soft wind whistled. Snoozing monkeys began to stir. The babies were the first to break the silence of the forest, calling out impatiently for the attention of their mothers. Sleepily, the mothers yawned and stretched, their gaping mouths revealing jagged teeth. Meanwhile, amongst the emerald green tea bushes below, the women prepared for their long day ahead. With the intense rays of the sun heating their backs, they began silently but speedily picking tea buds.

Scene 2: Monkeys run down the mountain, through the plantation, frightening the women.

- Can you create a sense of chaos?
- How do the monkeys move? What sounds do they make?
- How do the women react?

- Interesting adjectives
- Descriptive verbs
- Adverbs and adverbials

Quietly at first, but then more loudly, came the sound of twigs snapping, squeals and screeches. A gentle rumble turned in to a galloping thunder as the mischevious monkeys sped down towards the shocked women.

